"You are not familiar with the work of the several grandjuries which have preceded you. A condition of affairs is shown to exist in this city which is intolerable, and which must be put an end to. You should prosecute this work with the same vigor that has been shown by your predecessors."

SHOTGUNS AT THE POLLS."

And Anarchy From the Pulpit Predicted by Father Coffey.

Following a sermon denunciatory of the political records as Edward Butler, James Cronin and Robert Carroll, Father Coffey, rector of St. John's Church, declared Sunday that the voters of St. Louis would soon find it necessary to resort to shotguns at the polls in order to secure their rights.

"The time is coming," said Father Coffey, "when anarchy will be preached from the pulpit, and when men will come to the point where the farmers had to protect the game or see it become extinct in the district. Then we must have a good hunt for the hunter for five years, and allow the game to multiply and again inhabit the country in great numbers."

FAIR WEATHER FOR THE FAIR

Dr. Hyatt Makes Optimistic Prophecy for the Coming Week.

"Fair weather for Fair week" is Dr. Hyatt's optimistic prophecy.

In Virginia and Pennsylvania, where they have no Veiled Prophet, heavy rain is still falling. As near as Springfield, Mo., there is frost. But Dr. Hyatt says that neither of these features will be on the local weather bill for the week.

The skies will be bright, and the air mild, so runs the weather bill for the week.

The skies will be bright, and the air mild, so runs the weather bill for the week.

Dr. Hyatt is positive that the rain is over. There will be no more unfavorable weather, he avers, until after Big Thursday, at any rate.

ST. LOUIS CROWDED FOR FALL FESTIVITIES

ALL ROOMS AT THE LARGE HOTELS ALREADY TAKEN.

HEAVY TRAFFIC ON RAILROADS

St. Louis' annual week of fall festivities opened Monday morning, and every incoming train brought hundreds of guests to the city.

The Veiled Prophet ball and parade, the fair, the South Side carnival and other attractions are on the tapis, and rooms at the various hotels are at a premium.

At 9 o'clock Monday morning there was not a room to be had at the Southern, Planters' or Terminal hotels.

The St. James was also enjoying a splendid business, as well as the Laclede, the St. Nicholas and others.

Uncle Sam will provide a new and novel entertainment this year.

The train station at Jefferson Barracks will ride out Lindell boulevard to Forest Park at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, in time for the grand opening of the cavalry drill at Handlan's Park, Grand and Laclede avenues. This exhibition will be given gratis.

Railroad rates to St. Louis have been made by all the railroads and passenger men say they are enjoying a most substantial business.

Major Wells and the members of the Board of Public Improvements left the city at 10 o'clock Monday morning for "Mark Twain" to meet His Mystic Majesty, the Veiled Prophet, and to escort him to the city.

It is understood that the guest would be in waiting at the Carondelet landing for his escort.

The parade, on its return, will arrive early in the afternoon, and will reach the City Hall at 3 o'clock. There the monarch will be formally given the keys of the city. He will then disappear until the parade of Tuesday night.

RHEUMATISM

Tortures, Cripples and Deforms.

Rheumatism does not treat all alike. Some suffer torture from the very beginning, the attack being so sudden, sharp and disastrous that they are made helpless cripples in a few days, while others feel only occasional twitches of pain in the knees, ankles, elbows and wrists, or the muscles of the legs, arms, back or neck; but this treacherous disease is only traveling by slower stages. The acid poisons are all the while accumulating in the blood, nerves and joints and are filling with corrodng, burning matter, and when the disease tightens its grip it strikes with full force, and strikes with full force, no constitution is strong enough to withstand its fearful blows, and its victims are crippled and deformed, or are literally worn out by constant pain. Rheumatism is caused by Uric Acid or some other irritating poison in the blood, and this is the cause of every variety and form of this dread disease. External remedies do not reach the blood, and specifically do not go to the bone.

S. S. goes directly into the circulation and attacks the disease itself. The acid poisons that cause the inflammation, soreness and swelling are neutralized and the blood purified and cleansed of all irritating matter, and nothing is left in the circulation to produce other attacks. S. S. being a vegetable remedy does not impair the digestion or general health like alkali and potash remedies, but builds up and invigorates the entire system, and at the same time makes a thorough and permanent cure of Rheumatism.

WAR ON WORLD'S FAIR SCALPERS

RAILROAD SYSTEMS TRAIN THEIR GUNS ON BROKERS.

SCHUBACH AND STEINER SUED

Plaintiffs Say That Unless Order Is Issued They Cannot Make Any More Reduced Rates.

Railroad systems entering St. Louis opened war on ticket brokers Monday morning, the issue in controversy being the handling by the "scalpers" of tickets sold at reduced rates for the World's Fair and all preliminary ceremonies connected with it.

The first of the suits, filed by the Chicago Burlington & Quincy railroad company against Miss Schubach and Simon Steiner, asks that an order be issued restraining ticket brokers from buying and selling tickets known as "reduced rates" for the World's Fair traffic.

If such an order is not issued, the petition declares, the railroads will be unable to make reduced rates for the Fair and the price of a specimen.

Attorney E. S. Roberts, who filed the suits for the Burlington, notified the circuit judge in criminal term that they could be filed by any of the railroads entering St. Louis.

The petition in the Burlington case states that the tickets are sold at reduced rates under special contract, by which they are made non-transferable, and will be impossible to pass through the railroads to identify every person who presents a return ticket, in order to ascertain whether he or she purchased the ticket. The only way in which the companies can be protected, it is stated, is for outside persons to be restrained from handling the tickets.

A similar suit was later filed by the Chicago & Alton against the Burlington.

It is stated that the officials of the World's Fair have approved the form of the ticket which the railroads propose to sell.

It is stated that on Sept. 20, site day, it is estimated that C. W. Pearce and W. Martin ticket brokers of Chicago and St. Louis sold their tickets. It is stated, were sold to a St. Louis broker and were purchased by U. P. Urban for himself and his wife. In view of the protection, it is stated, the company lost $15.

Veiled Prophet—Iron Mountain Route.

Account of V. P. night, Tuesday, Oct. 1, train No. 11, leaving Fourth and Chestnut at 5:30 p. m., will be held until $20 per head. Train No. 9, leaving Union Station 8:40 p. m., will make same stops as made by train No. 11.

TAX EXCITES THE GRAIN MEN.

Levying of It May Drive Consignments to the East Side.

The Missouri state board of railroad and warehouse commissioners has issued a decree that grain received at St. Louis, Kansas City and St. Joseph, where it is not ordered to elevator or to mill, team or private track over the initial road it comes on, and all other grain ordered reconsigned to other tracks, shall pay a fee of 2¢ per car.

This order has excited a great deal of feeling in St. Louis grain circles, especially among receivers who handle grain from the West. Missouri grain, it is said, does not go to the east side to be sold. They say that no such charge is in effect on the Missouri side, where a written agreement with the railroads and grain elevators and commissioners is in effect that no charge shall be made on grain that is reconsigned.

In Chicago and at other points in the country, grain is charged 2¢ per car.

If the Missouri board insists upon this charge, receivers say they will order all grain that can possibly be billed to the east side sent there. Such action would cut the Missouri board out of a large amount of revenue if it now receives on inspection of grain arriving on the west side of the river.

Southampton Sales.

The Mercantile Trust Co. reports that the inclemency of the weather a few days ago prevented a large number of sales, and 12 more sales were added to the already imposing list. The fact that all prices are to be advanced from 10 to 15 per cent with the result that there is no doubt result in a large number of sales during the coming week, provided the weather remains bad. It is the opinion of the trust that the subdivision of the Mercantile Trust Co. that at the close of the week $100,000 sales will have been completed.

The improvements now under way, consisting of Teiford road, granite walk and curbing shade trees, street sewer and water, etc., will be completed within the next 60 days on the principal street of the subdivision, Franklin Avenue. This will greatly add to the general attraction.

Realtors of the Mercantile Trust Co. are in attendance at its handsome trust office, corner of Devonshire and King's Highway, every day. Prospective purchasers are receiving intelligent assistance in the selection of their property.

SNYDER JURY OF ONE MIND

Charles W. Wall, Foreman, Says Members Were Unanimous in Every Detail of Verdict.

Charles W. Wall, foreman of the jury which convicted Robert M. Snyder of bribery Saturday night, says that the members of the jury were unanimous on every detail of the trial, and that only a delay caused by the loss of the court's instructions made it necessary to adjourn for 55 minutes before bringing in a judgment.

The Butler case opens in the Boone County court Oct. 12. The evidence, so far as the state part is concerned, is not strong, but Mr. Wall holds that the trial to be over by the night of Oct. 16.

Snyder is at the Southern Hotel, and apparently but not definitely in the hotel lobby. He says that he will depose to K. C. City, Mo., and the hideousness of the gambling evil and the reproduction of its features at the Exposition would be even worse.

The three propositions, as taken up in detail by the jurors, were the guilt or innocence of Snyder on the charge of attempted bribery, his guilt on the charge of attempted bribery, and the question of his immunity under the statute of limitations. On each of these propositions the jury was undivided.

The cost to the state of the Snyder trial is estimated at $300.

The cost to the defense is estimated at $100.

The verdict was signed within 20 minutes after the deliberations commenced.

No bribery trial will be held this week, the case of Henry Nicolaus having been concluded until Oct. 28.

Chief Attorney and his assistants will spend the week in preparing for this case, and for the still more immediate duty of prosecuting Edward Butler at Co-lumbus next week.

OPPOSES PROPOSED EXHIBIT.

Rev. Winchester Preaches Against Monte Carlo at the air.

Rev. Dr. J. B. Winchester, rector of the Episcopal chapel of the Ascension, preached a strong sermon Sunday against the attempt to reproduce the features of Monte Carlo, the great gambling city, at the coming World's Fair.

He called attention to the beauty with which Monte Carlo is built, and the hideousness of the gambling evil and the reproduction of its features at the Exposition would be even worse.

He would warn the visitors for gambling, Dr. Winchester said.

"In our financial colleges the students carry on financial matters in the course of the business instruction. While the currency is not legal tender it teaches the young men all the lessons pertaining to business," he said.

He said a boy interested in accounts would educate every one in gambling."

UNKNOWN DASHED TO DEATH.

Badly Crushed Body Found at the Foot of South Side Cliff.

The crushed and bleeding body of an unknown man, aged about 40, was found in Lorah's quarry, foot of Osage street, Sunday morning. The remains were discovered in the quarry, which is about 100 feet above the ground. The police are investigating to learn whether the unknown fell into the quarry accidentally or was pushed in.

George Kress of 400 South Main street discovered the body.

Nothing in the dead man's pocket offered any clue to his identity.

Ten cents in money was found, a pocket knife and a piece of paper bearing the words "W. C. Peacock." The man was wearing a coat and trousers.

He was wearing a blue overcoat, black hat, blue cotton shirt and had a week's growth of beard. A red bandanna handkerchief was about his neck.

SOUTH BROADWAY STAG.

Large Number of Persons Witnessed Athletic Events.

A stag party was given yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the South Broadway Club at the clubhouse, 911 Geyer avenue. A large crowd was present. Singing, clapping, dancing and several boxing matches were the program of local talent.

The first event of the evening was a boxing exhibition by Gus Head and Frank Billott furnished a second bout.

The wrestling match between John Stanter and Philo Walker was a third bout.

Stanter won the stronger and heavier and put Stanter's shoulders to the mat several times. The club will give a hop-up reception Oct. 1

The country will take notice that St. Louis has convicted a briber.

There is still considerable perspiring in efforts to explain away Mr. McKinley's last speech.

High-tariffed wool blankets are expected to keep out the cold that cannot be modified with combination coal.

Why should the President's disappointment be so great? Did he not comprehend the meaning of a coal trust?

"Sandwich" men, transparent carriers and distributors of cards and "dodgers" are to be driven from the streets of the national capital. Washington, however, has good newspapers, and advertisers will not have to go out of business.

THE SNYDER VERDICT.

The verdict in the Snyder bribery case was a notable victory for justice and a demonstration that the sentiment of the people of St. Louis on the subject of bribery is sound and healthy.

The guilt of Snyder was practically admitted. Not a word of testimony to controvert the overwhelming evidence of the defendant's guilt was submitted by his attorneys. The accused man stood before the jury admittedly steeped in the crime of bribery, pleading the statute of limitation and the triviality and conventionality of his offense.

The jury found good reason to reject the plea of limitation and repudiated the plea of Judge Priest that the crime of bribery was conventional and was regarded in high civilization as a trifling offense.

There is cause for great rejoicing that public sentiment in St. Louis differs widely from Judge Priest's opinion of bribery and that the people of St. Louis have awakened to a realization of the baseness of the crime and its menace to good government. In this respect the verdict in the Snyder case combined a vindication of the law with the proof of the wholesomeness of public opinion.

Says a local writer: "When you see a city where no new pavements are being laid, and old ones are falling to pieces, begin to look for bootblacks." Why not look for bootblacks earlier, and prevent such conditions?

SELLING LIQUOR TO MINORS.

A St. Louis parent, in Saturday's Post-Dispatch, calls attention to the fact that the law prohibiting the sale of intoxicants to minors is not enforced. The writer says: "I have seen a little girl with the face of an angel going into a tough saloon on Olive street."

It is a well-known fact that this most necessary law is not enforced. All over the city, children are permitted to buy and carry home intoxicants. The negligence of the police in regard to this law is but a part of the general regime of negligence which has been characteristic of the police and other city authorities for many years. It is a part of the blindness and waywardness that has resulted in unpaved streets, unfinished public buildings, uncollected garbage, unchecked gambling and other evils that have afflicted St. Louis.

The police authorities should enforce this law. We are striving for better conditions for the young people. We are giving them free playgrounds, baths and juster treatment by the courts. They should by all means be protected from saloon influences. Everyone who sells liquor to a child should be punished. Enforce this law for the sake of a clean and progressive St. Louis.

The World's Fair should have a vegetarian kitchen if the vegetarians expect to educate the world in food reform. Many meat eaters would be interested in such an institution even if they should not be converted.

THE OTHER MAN'S CONSCIENCE.

Nothing is more withering than a waiter's contempt. Americans who dine in London restaurants have lost the respect of the waiters because they call for water.

A Yankee, writing to a London newspaper, tells what happened to him: "I asked for some water repeatedly. No notice was taken of my request. Finally, when all the other diners had got interested in my demand for water, the head waiter came up and eventually a bottle of water and some glasses were placed upon the table. This has been my experience all over London. The conclusion, to my mind, is that only men with nerve enough to stand against the waiters' contempt can get served with water in restaurants in this city."

It is not a pleasant alternative for water drinkers, but no self-respecting man will hesitate. He must drink wine. Voluntarily to incur the contempt of a waiter is to boast one's self an iconoclast, or, on the other hand, that he is beneath contempt. The average man dares not make such a boast and shrinks from such a confession. So what is the poor devil to do? Take wine, of course.

The other man's conscience is the great moral regulator. It keeps many a man in the straight and narrow way who otherwise would go the primrose path to the everlasting bonfire. In small things as in great, the other man's notion of what is right and proper is the surest, safest guide.

The coal famine is likely to last all winter. Even if the differences between the trust and the miners were to be stated at once, hard-coal prices would be too high for the average consumer to pay. The man with a perfect substitute for hard coal should step right up with it.

BUILDING THE ODE.

It is high time that the contract be let for a World's Fair ode, to open the greatest Exposition on earth in time, every detail complete, and it would be a shame to neglect such a venture without which no international show would be.

But we must give the poets time.

Editor of the World's Fair odes will have no mean task. He must first determine its dimensions and then cast them of architecture he will use—whether it shall be Gothic, Renaissance, Louis XIV or Queen Anne of either. He must call in the Director of Works to discuss the odes with him, and then turn with the plenty of roccoco and gingerbread work around it, whether it will be a plain, serviceable ode, without turrets, painted columns or dormer windows.

All of these things will require thought and it is imperative that we give the architect plenty of time to consider the details of his work, so that there may be no danger of it sagging or collapsing at the critical moment. Besides, several thousand bids will undoubtedly be submitted, and before contract can be awarded and the work started, it will be necessary to call in a committee of architects, plasterers, lathers and brick masons to pass on the specifications and decide which plan is most acceptable.

By all means, let us not overlook the importance of letting the contractor for the ode.

How could a mere President of a mere United States expect to change the decrees of Providence by remonstrating with Coal Trust saints?

ONLY ONE CLOUD IN THE SKY.

Reports from Bradstreet and Dun agree that the only cloud in the commercial and financial sky is the scarcity of fuel.

Returns for the three-quarters of the year's operations of failures, clearings and other items are very favorable and indicate a healthy sound condition.

Improvement in the South is observed owing to the early marketing of cotton. And top active speculation in stocks, which a year ago threatened the stability of business, seems to have had no power to retard the general advance of legitimate trade or materially affect the immense increases in general production.

Whether or not this very desirable condition shall continue depends upon a peaceable and speedy settlement of the coal strike. That disturbance eliminated, there is now no visible reason why prosperity should not continue indefinitely.

The supposed elasticity of the national bank currency scheme has not been very apparent of late. But perhaps there can never be enough elasticity to always save the country from the gamblers of Wall street.

FAIR WEEK.

Fair week opens with every promise of sunny, warm weather. The chief event, of course, will be the Veiled Prophet's procession and ball, the procession being of special interest as illustrating the history of the Mississippi Valley and the acquisition of the Louisiana territory.

At the Fair Grounds the interest in the event seems well supported. The exhibits of horses, swine, sheep and cattle are said to be up to the mark and the poultry department is unusually large. Of special importance is the Canadian government's exhibition of grasses and other products of southern Canada. The recent heavy American immigration into those regions is calculated to awaken curiosity in the resources and products of our northern neighbors.

Visitors may be assured that St. Louis will not be behind-hand this year in any of the measures of hospitality.

Women of Cincinnati are positioning to have their names and addresses published in the city directory and women of other cities may soon follow their example. The expense to the directory publishers if all feminine names are given will be very great. Perhaps directors of two great volumes, the one with feminine, the other with masculine names, will come out of the Cincinnati agitation. Indeed, a double directory for St. Louis may be ready in the World's Fair year.

Reports of a perfect condition of affairs in Porto Rico must have been exaggerated. "Conflicts in which blood is shed are of almost daily occurrence throughout the island," says a Post-Dispatch special from San Juan. The time for a tropical heaven has evidently not yet arrived in any of our new possessions.

The Alton saloon under the Young Men's Christian Association building, which was at one time a church, has closed, having proved unprofitable. There would be few saloons in the neighborhoods of cities if the "neighbors" did not make them profitable.

The 60 Pullman porters who have organized to abolish the tipping system are deserving of the highest commendation. Their postulate that their employers should pay them full wages and not leave them dependent upon the public is unassailable.

If the national debt has prevented a panic, the "national-debt-is-a-national-blessing" crowd will be sure to make capital out of the fact.

Was the coal famine necessary to beat into American heads the necessity of uniting against monopoly?

POST-DISPATCH SNAP SHOTS.

The corn Indian from Kansas, who is to stand in the World's Fair, will have no whoop. He is different from other corn Indians.

The motorman's little joke of carrying a passenger a block farther than the bell indicates is most laughable on a cold, rainy day.

If you know of any new kind of fuel, now is the time to speak. The dancing girl will have to do her stunts down town in the World's Fair year.

So many birds are being killed by striking against the Washington monument in Washington that the humane societies may present a petition Congress to saw it off.

Let impetuous contagion rage. It is not so bad as the grippe. Hungry vegetarians will doubtless be sorely tempted by the Belgian beer men served at the Fair this week.

The baseball pennant goes to Philadelphia and a Philadelphia millionaire is declared to have made a perfect smoke consumer. Surely the Quaker City has come out of her trance.

In the potato race at the Louisville horse show the contestants picked potatoes from a hamper by means of a sharp lathe, carrying them to a hamper at the other end of the ring—if they could. It was lawful for contestants to knock potatoes off opponents' lathe, pull one another off their horses, or tear clothes. Possibly the Kentuckians will accept the potato race as a substitute for pugilistic exhibits.

No Tariff Revision.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

In all events we prefer to have no tariff revision or reduction whatever. The Post does not believe the administration settles this; for no matter how the congressional election goes, the Senate and executive will remain in control and against revision. The administration will be compelled to continue in the pinches of trust-tariff extortion awhile longer, so long as the country is in a condition of depression and economic stagnation. This course will be the better make for much-needed and effective popular instruction, costly though it is, to have a good lawyer.

SCHOOL CHILDREN WILL BE WARM

PLENTIFUL SUPPLY OF COAL FOR ENTIRE SEASON.

300,000 BUSHELS ON HAND

Wise Foresight of the Board of Education in View of the Anthracite Strike.

No danger threatens the St. Louis public school children from the present coal situation.

There is enough coal now stored in the cellars of each of the 137 school buildings to heat them almost throughout the entire year.

Of the 335,000 bushels for which the Board of Education has contracted, 300,000 bushels have been delivered according to A. D. Reed, chief engineer of the board, in charge of the building department.

"Most of the schools the coal now in the cellars will be sufficient to heat the buildings until the end of the coal season," said Mr. Reed.

"In about 10 per cent of the buildings it will be necessary to replenish the supply after March 1.

"The contract made for the coal was made with the Boehmer Coal Co. in June. The work of delivering the coal was commenced on Sept. 1, and all school cellars had been filled. The entire $3,000 bushel will be put in at that time if we shall need room for all the coal.

Last year we burned some anthracite, but the prices for it this year are so high that we will not do so.

"The contract made by the board was at the rate of $2 1/2 cents per bushel or $1.625 a ton, and we already paid $20,000 for the coal delivered."

All the new and many of the older school buildings are equipped with down-draft furnaces which burn anthracite, thus saving the volume of smoke usually resulting from the burning of soft coal.

Small heating devices were placed on 21 additional school buildings during the summer. There were about 40 in operation last year, according to C. E. Allan of the building department.

CHIEF KIELY'S SHARPSHOOTER BRINGS DOWN AN OWL.

USED POLE FOR A PERCH

Sergeant Dowdall Discourses Ornithologically After Biddle Street Capture.

"Hoot, mon!" croaked a big owl at passers-by Sunday, from its perch on a telephone pole at Eleventh and Biddle streets.

Churchgoers leaving St. Joseph's, on the opposite corner, stopped to survey the feathered oracle. Passengers on passing cars—not owl cars, either—stretched their necks dangerously from the windows to watch the bird. The owl, pitched in the key of "Who," was given a revolver obligato by Police Sergeant William Dowdall. The sergeant, who had been sent for, made a sudden stop to the owl's mirth, and the sage bird tumbled into the nearest puddle.

For every shot that is fired from a police revolver, and every bullet that is made to hit the captain of the district, and Sgt. Dowdall, in making out his report at the Carr street station, showed a knowledge of the law by stating that the owl's age was 5 years.

"How did you know he was 5 years old?" was the question which every man in the station put to Dowdall.

"By the rings around his eyes," said the sergeant. "There were five rings, one for each eye."

"Whurroo!" exclaimed an old woman from O'Fallon street, who had wandered into the station. "That must be the reason why the owl can't fly. I never saw such owl cars go off after havin' rings around their eyes."

McNamee, Grade, a grocery clerk, who first saw the owl on its perch, also claims familiarity with birds and their ways, and says that the bird was one of the chicken-stealing variety. He also claims to be one of the few with whom wisdom is a specialty. A wise owl, he is confident, would never be so slight with such easy reach of a member of Chickie's revolver squad.

LATEST "BIRD" CRUSADE

Missouri Association Will Appeal to School Children Mass Meeting Tuesday.

An open meeting will be held Tuesday night at Deisher's Hall, Broadway and Elm street, by the Missouri Game and Fish Protective Association, as the result of a meeting of the executive committee, held Saturday night at Frack's Cafe. The following gentlemen were invited to make addresses: Messrs. R. Kenan, Joseph Wolf, H. Cleary, Harry H. Powers, Lieutenant-Governor John A. Lee and Judge John A. Tally. The executive committee has voted to have the cause printed, to be distributed to the children of the public schools in an effort to get the little ones in the movement for the protection of birds.

The teachers will also be asked to cooperate by having their charges prepare essays on the habits and uses of birds, their habits and usefulness to the community.

ARCHBISHOP KAIN INDISPOSED.
Question of Auxiliary Bishop to Be Settled in November.

The appointment of an auxiliary bishop of the St. Louis diocese is expected from Rome in November by Archbishop John J. Kain, who is at present confined to his residence by a disability of the legs.

The archbishop has not confided to anyone in Rome what his plan is, but reports from Rome have stated that the first suggested the name of Father J. A. Connelly, and later changed his preference to Father J. H. Walsh. The number of leading priests of the diocese are said to have influenced him in the change.

OFFERS A MINE TO PUBLIC

Mrs. Samuels Will Donate the Coal If the Government Will Dig It.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Mrs. Johanna C. Samuels, a southern woman capitalist, formerly of Nashville, Tenn., and Washington, but who has been in New York for several months organizing a railroad and other projects, has written to President Roosevelt offering to him a tract of mining land in Kentucky, to which she has discovered that jealousy can be controlled and even eradicated by a course of treatment. She wants the government to take a man who is unreasonably jealous and irritable, give him a good solid bread-and-water diet, and then ask him the reason for his behavior.

If the patient consents to talk about the matter, "the doctor says, "half the time, the doctor will be effective." Dr. This eminent French physician thinks he has discovered that jealousy can be controlled and even eradicated by a course of treatment.

The programme for the day includes strength and self-confidence to the jealous subject in short to make a man of him. The treatment will consist of a diet which is to be given to the patient.

BEWARE OF THE "PORCH CLIMBER"

This Kind of Burglar Is Working in St. Louis.

ROBBERY IN HORTON PLACE CHIEF DESMOND DESCRIBES PORCH CLIMBER'S TACTICS.

Works Usually While the Family Is at Supper, and Takes as Loot Only Money, Jewelry and Clothing of Rare Value.

The home of Mrs. E. Rinkle of 615 Horton place was entered by thieves sometime Saturday evening and $700 worth of jewelry, clothing and other articles were stolen.

Mrs. Rinkle has a store of dry goods and notions, and with her family lives in the flat above.

To a Post-Dispatch reporter this morning Mrs. Rinkle said:

"We were very busy in the store Saturday evening and did not pass much time upstairs.

A neighbor told me she saw a man climbing in the window about 7:30 o'clock. When we went upstairs later we found some trinkets scattered over the floor. Then we saw that someone had entered the house without our knowledge."

"I lost a pretty gold watch, a charm and other jewelry. My mother was robbed of some nice fall clothing."

"A young girl who had been staying with us found her trunk broken and all the money taken in our purse, together with a watch and other articles of value."

Chief of Detectives Desmond thinks the "porch climber" who was the kind of thief that burglarized Mrs. Rinkle's home, is a very formidable criminal.

He described this class of robbers for the Post-Dispatch as follows:

BY CHIEF DESMOND.

"The porch climber," said Chief Desmond, "is one of the most difficult thieves to effectively combat. He is bold and usually shrewd. He always attacks the house from the front—never from the rear. He works just about dusk while the family is at dinner."

The dining room is nearly always just back of the parlor. The servants are moving about in the rear of the house and the porch climber avoids these.

He will climb all of the outside part of the house unguarded. The porch climber may not have to "climb." He may attack the front door and force an entrance. Or he may break in through a window. This makes his work all the easier. He may have to climb the front porch and enter through a front window on the second floor.

"And the porch climber seldom takes clothing, unless it be some seaklin' garments which are not worth the trouble of money. This, for two reasons. Money and jewelry occupies small space and may be carried away the more easily. The moon is not so bright at night as day, and may be converted into money easier than any other commodity in the house and may be more easily disposed of."

"How may the public best guard against porch climbers? Well the best way is to shoot them. Of course this may not be possible. But if you see a man who may do his work and get away without detection. Every house ought to have glass and steel locks on the doors. The windows should be securely fastened.

"Especially should this be the case with windows that may be reached from the porch. Most people make the mistake of leaving the windows on the first floor equipped with proper window fastenings, and leave the windows on the upper floor at the same level."

"Were the windows and doors secured properly the porch climber would have to waste too much time in effecting an entrance, and besides he would probably make so much noise that he would be detected."

Mr. Nelson was seen Monday morning by the Post-Dispatch.

"To establish such a school has been my desire for a long time past," said Mr. Nelson. "I did not see my way clear to it until now. I had made the proposition to several gentlemen, among them Dr. Nelson, who by the way, is not related to me, and they rejected them to propose it to the conference. However, just as I was about to conclude my proposition of 'Industrial Education' before the conference, Saturday night, Mr. Nelson urged me to make the offer in person."

"Mr. Nelson and these gentlemen of whom I spoke, knew my plans. I have turned the proposition over to them and the only thing upon which I insisted was that the school be strictly non-sectarian, and that whoever is old enough to work on the farm or in the field, should not be required to start big and quitting little. We will start in a very moderate way and build up."

GIFT OF SCHOOL BY N. O. NELSON

Work and Study to Be Open to All Comers.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH HAS CHARGE

BUILDING AND 100 ACRES AT LECLAIRE, ILL., DONATED.

Non-Sectarian Institution Was Suggested to the Enterprising St. Louisian by Booker Washington's School in Alabama.

At the conclusion of an address on "Industrial Education" before the Christian conference at the Lindell Avenue Non-Sectarian Christian Church Saturday night, Mr. N. O. Nelson gave a building and 100 acres of land at LeClaire, Ill., to be used as a manual training school.

The school had made no reference to this essential object during the conference, and required only about a half minute for him to make the offer. After doing so, he left the conference in the hands of the members of the conference, and immediately appointed a committee to complete the business arrangements for the acceptance of the gift and the establishment of the educational institution.

Mr. Nelson will take no active part in the school, which is to be conducted by the employees of the church established by Booker T. Washington at Tuskegee, Ala., where young men and women who desire to secure an education and have not the means to attend college can be educated up to the desired goal.

OTIS SKINNER IN "LAZARRE" AT THE CENTURY THEATER SUNDAY NIGHT CAUSED A DEMONSTRATION

MRS. SARA STEVENS.

The ovation tendered Mr. Otis Skinner at the Century Theater last night, at the end of the second act of "Lazarre," must have been most gratifying to that gentleman, who admits that St. Louis has been the hardest city in the United States for him to impress. The ovation came at the close of a somewhat melodramatic speech, in which Lazarre, the unaccepted dauphin of France, raised as the son of an Indian, recalls scenes in the life of his mother, Marie, who was the daughter of a Frenchman of the royal blood.

Mr. Nelson will take no active part in the school, which is to be conducted by the employees of the church established by Booker T. Washington at Tuskegee, Ala., where young men and women who desire to secure an education and have not the means to attend college can be educated up to the desired goal.

It will be essentially a manual training institution, where every facility will be afforded the pupil to make rapid progress in his studies.

The building donated by Mr. Nelson has been used as a clubhouse by the employees of the church.

The committee which will take immediate charge of the matter is composed of the following members: Mr. E. A. Egan, pastor of the Lindell Avenue Non-Sectarian Church; John W. Whittaker and Prof. N. O. Nelson, trustees; and Mr. John D. Miller, who has been elected president of the school.

Mr. Nelson has a store of dry goods and notions, and with her family lives in the flat above.

"DIE! DIE THE DEATH OF A DOG!" "NOT WHILE I HAVE MEN TRUSTY DAGGER" THEY SCUFFLE.

"We were only rehearsing a scene which we had seen at the theater, judge," chorused Willie Vedder and Gus Pitner, boy defendants, charged with peace disturbance in the Dayton street police court Monday.

Patrolman Reedy's eyes protruded when he heard this novel plea, and he deplored that he had arrested the youths when they were engaged in a fight at Tenth and Chambers streets near midnight Sunday. Not only the acts but the language of the contestants, he said, proved that they were in deadly broil.

He had followed the boys after they left the street car and found them in a alterations.

"Die, die, the death of a dog," he heard one young cry.

"And we have my trusty dagger," the other replied.

That was enough for Reedy. He mixed pitch and gunpowder and drew his belt around his waist. The boys were taken to the police station and were released on bond. Monday they tried in the courtroom.

Willie Vedder told Judge Tracy that he and his chum, Gus Pitner, had attended the play the previous evening and seen the scene.

The scene where the heroine, Jessie Summer, was threatened by the knife of the Indian, was funny and was well received.

Mr. Pitner, however, disagreed as to the proper presentation of the scene. Tracy ruled that the Indians should be allowed a scuffle rehearsal. While they were doing so, the young couple were discharged.

Judge Tracy said amateur acting was not a crime and discharged the defendants.

tain and amuse—for there are a couple of really good characters in it that caught the house—and it certainly did amuse us."

It was a typical Sunday night audience and filled the theater from orchestra to gallery.

Mr. Skinner was given only fair support by a company that contains considerable good material. The work of Maud Durbin is excellent, but it is hard to say which of the two is the best.

After such an ovation at the close of the second act it was only reasonable to suppose that the enthusiasm of the audience would be even greater in the third act.

Mr. Skinner was given only fair support by a company that contains considerable good material. The work of Maud Durbin is excellent, but it is hard to say which of the two is the best.

An express train is seen crossing a gully in the distance and is supposed to round a bend.

The part is a pleasing one and gains the sympathy of the audience at once.

The hand-clapping grows to a storm, which was increased by the audience's interest in the five acts. But it didn't last. The next three curtain calls fell on comparative silence.

One of the curtain calls was for Nanette, the young dancer, and the audience responded with a hearty round of applause.

The play "Lazarre" is vastly different from the book and very few of the speeches in the drama are taken from the work of George Sand.

Frank James and his wife are a picture of health and happiness, and the play must be a good one.

How "die, die, the death of a dog" was presented.

Last night's audience was pleased. It was a good one, and the author, too, was pleased.
